

Nation Outraged By Savagery of Military That is Demanded of Them

Pentagon VA – In a recent poll of Americans many showed outrage and disgust at the brutal inhumanity practiced by its soldiers in order to survive physically and mentally in the horrors of war. “What kind of human being would treat another human with such disdain and contempt as some of these reports show our boys are doing overseas?” said a local citizen. “It is deplorable that our boys in uniform would debase and emasculate other cultures while attempting to kill anyone who threatens their lives.” Many Americans expressed outrage that service members make jokes and comments demeaning and degrading towards ethnicities and cultures they are currently battling in the field. When asked about their take on the American public towards their behavior one marine said “They train us and teach us to be warriors who are willing to kill and die in order to protect our society, which naturally leads us to have to not view the enemy as human, because honestly, who would want to purposefully kill another human being? Clearly we need to psychologically denigrate the enemy to mollify the inherent human trait to not harm another human being. To have soldiers, marines, etc do otherwise just sounds like sociopathy.”
